Your school indicated you have lost eligibility for federal student financial aid because one or more of your loans inadvertently exceeds the annual or aggregate loan limit.

This is known as "overborrowing," and you must act to continue receiving federal student financial aid.

What you need to do

Have your school complete Section 3 of the enclosed form. The school will identify the loan(s) and amount that caused the overborrowing.

To get complete information about your federal student loans, visit NSLDS.ed.gov.

To regain eligibility

Once your school has completed Section 3, you may either pay the excess amount now or agree to repay ("reaffirm") the excess according to the terms and conditions of your Promissory Note(s).

To reaffirm the excess amount, review and complete Section 4 and return the agreement to: Aidvantage, P.O. Box 9635, Wilkes-Barre,

PA 18773-9635

OR

To pay the excess amount now, sign the form below and send payment along with this signed letter and the completed Section 3 of the Reaffirmation Agreement to:

Important disclosure(s)

Servicing of federal student loans

Your federal student loans referenced in this letter are owned by the U.S. Department of Education. The terms of the federal student loan programs are not determined by Aidvantage, they are established by federal law, in particular by the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended, and U.S. Department of Education regulations. Among other things, the law and regulations set borrowing limits, interest rates, eligibility for subsidies, repayment plans, capitalization of interest, and loan forgiveness. As your loan servicer, Aidvantage is required to administer your loans on behalf of the U.S. Department of Education in accordance with the law.
